*Hello from...
... Gareth Griffith*

My family and I moved to Lechlade in the summer of 2021, when I began work as a curate with the churches of Lechlade, Southrop and Eastleach. Before that, we had lived in north London for two years, where I trained at theological college, and before that we had a decade in Cheltenham. During that time, my wife and I often drove out into the Cotswolds for long walks, so we discovered the river at Lechlade and the low hills north of Eastleach long before we came to live here.

Curacy is a sort of apprenticeship for vicars, so I work alongside Rev. Andrew Cinnamond, learning how to do all the many things that make up the life and ministry of a member of the clergy. For some of these things, like preaching on a Sunday, I can draw on my previous career as a lecturer at the University of Bristol. For others, like taking a funeral, there isn't anything that can really prepare you.

In my role as curate, I have the privilege of being there with people during times of great joy, such as weddings and baptisms, but also when life is hardest: funerals, serious illness, times of deep distress and sadness. Then there is the weekly routine of after-school clubs, toddler groups, home visits, and those wonderful times on Sunday when the church family gathers together for worship. In all these times, my job - and my joy - is to point people to Jesus, to show his love for them, and to invite them to know him for themselves.

That's why Easter is, for me, the high point of the year – even more than Christmas, or the relief of a summer holiday! Those few days during which Jesus was arrested, killed, buried, and rose again, are the most important in history, and what we make of them is the most important choice we'll ever make. My hope and prayer is that this Easter, you'll look at that man on the cross and find a God who not only shares our pain, but rescues us from it, because of his incomparable love.

This month's charity donations will go to the Royal National Lifeboat Institution, which celebrates its 200th anniversary next year. We may be a long way from the sea, but any of us who have a UK holiday – or even a day out – on the coast may be in need of their help. If you have ever been rescued by the RNLI, do come along and share your story!

AN ENHANCED WEBSITE FOR CHEQS VILLAGES

Mike Stranks writes: For several years I've managed a website which gives information about upcoming events in Coln, Hatherop and Quenington, as well as hosting photos, videos and sound recordings of things that have happened. This was also one of the places to find the online colour editions of the CHEQS magazine.

The website has now been enhanced to include things that will happen and have happened in Eastleach and Southrop - another CHEQS-wide resource!

Have a look at www.cheqs.weebly.com to discover what's available. If you are able to, you can point your smartphone's camera at the QR and click on it to go to the website. The CHEQS Magazine has an increased prominence on the site, so it's now even easier to access the magazine in full colour.

The success of the site relies on me being kept informed of upcoming events in the CHEQS villages. There's a 'Contact Us' page on the website – do use it to tell me about your events. You never know - I might even turn-up to shoot some video!

NEW BENCH FOR SOUTHROP

Southrop Parish Council has provided a new bench for the village, to commemorate the accession of King Charles III to the throne. It replaces a bench which was no longer fit for purpose, and has the name of the King and the date of accession (8th September 2022) carved into the top back rail.

FAIRFORD ART SOCIETY - WORKSHOP

Saturday, 15th April from 10am to 4pm, at Fairford Community Centre

Last month, Nicky Hunter demonstrated how to capture 'Spring Flowers in Watercolour'. She will also be running a workshop on the same subject, on Saturday, 15th April, from 10am - 4pm. For workshops, a non-refundable deposit of £10 is required, to be paid when names are entered on the list. The balance of £25 will be due four weeks before the event, paid by cheque to Fairford Art Society and sent to John Hewett.

RARE PLANT FAIR

Sunday, 16th April, from 11am to 4pm, The Old Rectory, Quenington

This popular plant fair attracts people from all over the county - and beyond - because of the number of nurseries who attend, and the diversity and quality of the plants being sold. You can ask questions about how best to look after your purchases, as well as meet up with friends and enjoy refreshments. Light lunches, cakes and hot and cold drinks will be available to purchase from the Pool House, to support the work of the charity Cobalt.

Please note that no dogs are allowed in the Garden or Plant Fair (except assistance dogs). Buy your tickets on arrival at the gate - no need to prebook. £6 per adult, which includes the Fair and Garden (children under 16 free).

The Grade II listed Old Rectory, with its organic garden, has been developed over the past 40 years. The history of the site probably stretches back to the 12th century, when the Knights Hospitaller had a preceptory in the village.

Esme Bradburne, a former head gardener, was one of the original founder members of the Soil Association. The garden is still run completely on organic lines, and Esme's work was seminal in creating much of the planting that we see today. The present layout goes back to 1928 when the Old Rectory was bought from the church.

FAIRFORD HISTORY SOCIETY

Thursday, 20th April, at 7.30pm, Farmor Room at Fairford Community Centre

What do you know about The Royal Progress of 1535, undertaken by King Henry VIII and Anne Boleyn?

The Royal Couple travelled through Oxfordshire, Gloucestershire, Wiltshire and Hampshire, between July and October 1535, and Alan Pilbeam will be shedding light on the subject at this meeting.

Have a look at the History Society's informative website for more items of local interest: <https://www.fairfordhistory.org.uk/meetings/>

Tristan Wilkinson, of Hatherop, writes: I'm sure, like me, you care deeply for our Cotswolds, which is why it's important to have your voice heard in this year's local elections on May 4th. All the seats for Cotswold District Council are being contested and the result will determine the leadership and political make-up of the council for the next four years.

These local elections are the first in England where voters will need to show a form of photo identification before they can vote at a polling station - rather than just supplying their name and address. The system has been in place in Northern Ireland since 2003, but will be nationwide for General Elections (and many other elections) in the UK from May onwards.

Voting in local elections is crucial, first and foremost because they provide citizens with a voice in decisions that impact their daily lives. Local councils are responsible for a range of essential services, including waste collection, housing, local climate change action and planning. By voting, residents can help ensure these services meet their needs and reflect their priorities. Voting provides an opportunity to hold elected officials accountable for their actions... or lack of action!

Regardless of your political view, it's important to have your voice heard and reflect on the local issues that impact our lives day to day.

The editor adds: To find out which forms of photo ID are acceptable, go to the electoral commission website and check their list. If you don't have suitable photo ID, the website will also tell you how to apply for a free voter ID document, known as a Voter Authority Certificate. If you don't have access to the internet, and don't know who to ask, please contact me and I'll try to help (contact details on page 2).

NEWS FROM THE SCHOOLS

Julia McLellan writes: We started this term with another great World Book Day, which always goes down well with our book-loving pupils. The children came dressed as their favourite book character and this year the staff were characters from traditional tales: some beautiful Little Red Riding Hoods, Goldilocks, and Cinderellas, The Big Bad Wolf, the Woodcutter and litter of Little Pigs! It was books, books, books all day. We started with some advice on how to be reading superheroes. The children enjoyed being detectives to work out which of the teachers was each of the “Masked Readers”. The Cygnets went on a journey inspired by Paddington and made suitcases to hold their special objects; one child packed a particularly special thing, “the sound of Southrop”! The day concluded with a book treasure hunt and book swap. Kim Harvey from Madhatter Bookshop has kindly donated us a £50 gift voucher, so some of our keen readers are off to Burford soon to choose our books.

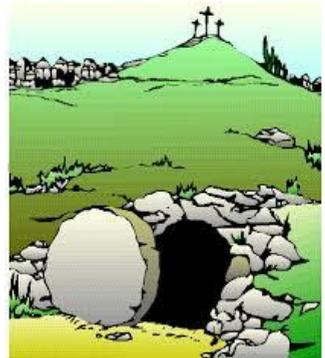

Our value this term is Perseverance, something we really value at Southrop School. We regular celebrate mistakes that we make as FAILs (First Attempt In Learning) and can often be heard exclaiming “I can’t do it...yet!”

The topic in Cygnets is: We Are Britain, a celebration of the countries, history and diversity which formed our nation, and in Swans: the Stone Age, which includes a fabulous trip to Stonehenge.

On the last day of term, we invited families with pre-school children to join us for an Easter egg hunt and craft morning. We also welcomed people from the local community to join us in St Peter’s Church for our Easter Service.

On a cold winter's day, Skylark Class took part in an Outdoor Learning session at Lea Wood. The children used their map reading skills to find the clues and work out where the story characters were hidden.

As part of the geography curriculum, Year 4 went for a walk around the local area, following a route that they had mapped out in class. Along the way, they marked off features that they spotted on their maps. At Coln Stores, they asked the manager a few questions about the local area.

Red Kite class have been learning about Chinese art. They made Chinese clay dragons and a terracotta army. They also tried out calligraphy.

We recently had a visit from the Clean and Green Engagement team, where Milly and Joe spoke to the children about the importance of looking after the environment and the impact litter has on the animals. They then took the children out on a litter pick in Hatherop.

RAYMOND THEODOULOU – AN OBITUARY

The long-serving county and district councillor, Raymond Theodoulou, died at the age of 83 on 9th March, after a brief illness. He was at home, and surrounded by his family.

Ray was born on 1st April 1939, in Paddington, London, and was the son of Irene Rankin and Andreas Theodoulou, from Cyprus. During the Blitz, he narrowly survived a bombing raid on Mornington Crescent. He was evacuated, first to Bristol and then, when Bristol was also bombed, he and his mother moved to North Shields to live with his uncles. After the war, they returned to London. For the rest of his life, he retained vivid memories of the hardships of wartime Newcastle and of post-war London, with its bomb damage and rationing.

Ray was educated at Sheen Grammar School, then went to Oxford to study French and German at St Peter's College. A formative experience came in 1958, when he visited his pen friend in Berlin. Ray never forgot the family's stories of the war and its aftermath, and he came away with a great respect and affection for German music and literature. To the end of his life, he would tell jokes in German and recite from the works of the late 18th century German writers, Schiller and Hölderlin.

After university, Ray moved back to London, working briefly at the British Tourist Authority. He then pursued a career in finance which took him to South East Asia, living and working for twenty years in Hong Kong, Singapore, and Jakarta. His work also took him to Gabon, New Zealand, the Soviet Union and many more places besides. He was a great raconteur, and delighted in regaling friends and family with stories of his travels, including the occasion when he had to learn Mandarin in order to deliver a speech before a large audience at the Great Hall of the People in Beijing.

In 1999 Ray, along with his wife Elizabeth and their children, moved back to the UK and settled in Quenington. He was elected to Gloucestershire County Council in 2001. From 2005, when the Conservatives took control of the Council, he had responsibility for the county finances. He served on the County Council for twenty years, ultimately becoming deputy leader and then chairman. When he stood down in 2021 a colleague noted that he had worked 'quietly, tenaciously' to further the public interest. 'His record of long service will be impossible to match.' In tandem with his responsibilities in Gloucester, Ray was elected district councillor in 2003, holding the post until the end of his life. For many years, he was also treasurer for St Swithin's Church, Quenington. Whichever hat he wore, Ray won the respect of his constituents and colleagues for his genial manner and his concern for local affairs. He travelled widely throughout the Cotswolds to attend parish, district and county meetings, and was happy to talk to constituents at any time.

He died in the place he loved, and which he had served for two decades. He is survived by his wife, seven children, two step-children and seven grandchildren.

NEWS FROM THE ERNEST COOK TRUST: HOME FARM

Nine of The Ernest Cook Trust's 26 farms are based in and around the CHEQS villages and this includes Home Farm, Netherton, near Quenington. The Lander family farmed at Home Farm for over 100 years, until their tenancy was relinquished back to The Ernest Cook Trust by Tim Lander before his sad death in 2021.

The Ernest Cook Trust is a UK-wide educational charity which creates outdoor learning experiences for children, young people and their families, on its own estates and with partners across the country. The Trust's vision is for an environmentally engaged society with stronger connections with nature.

Tim Lander was enthusiastic about providing opportunities for young people to have access to land-based education and employment. This fits perfectly with The Ernest Cook Trust's ethos of funding and delivering Outdoor Learning opportunities. The Landers ran Home Farm as a beef and arable farm and the Trust is looking to respect their family legacy in planning for the future of the farm.

We have recently completed a full refurbishment of the farmhouse and will shortly be offering the house to let on the open market for the short term. We are also undertaking work on improvements to the traditional farmyard, the 'road frontage' of the farm and have recently re-fenced the entire southern half of the holding.

Looking to the future, we are excited about the medium- to long-term opportunities of the farm, especially given its proximity to our planned new Head Office at Court Farmhouse. The Landers farmed the land at Court Farm as part of their business and as such, this land is currently included within the farm tenancy of Home Farm. We will be able to confirm the future for Home Farm during 2023 as part of the Trust's commitment to supporting land-based learning opportunities. More to follow on this!

Until then, the land is currently being actively farmed by the Trust's farming subsidiary, ECT Farms Ltd, and we cut the grass for hay and silage over the summer months. This winter, Home Farm has been home to nearly 200 Swaledale fell sheep, who joined us from their home in Mungrisdale, Cumbria, where they live at the Trust's Low Beckside Farm. They will probably have made the return trip towards the end of March, as the weather hopefully improves in Cumbria.

Chris Roberts MBE, writes: I've always been a book lover – sometimes with two, or even three, books on the go at the same time, depending on what mood I am in, and what story or plot appeals to me at that moment in time! So, I'm thrilled to announce that I'm organising a book festival on behalf of Fairford Festival, which will be held in the grounds of Fairford Cricket Club. It's a daunting task, especially as I've never organised such an event before, but I am pleased to say that so far everything is going well.

Fairford Festival's Book Fest will feature two children's authors (Jo Empson and Steve Antony) in Fairford Library, on Friday, 9th June, and seven other top authors in the Literary Marquee on Saturday, 10th June: Emma Reeves, Sandra Howard, Anne de Courcy, Dr Michael McCarthy, Paul Martin, and Dom Joly.
